

Local Food System Survey – Take it Today!

Interest in local food is at an all-time high right here in our region – and internationally. Sustainable Sandhills has created a local food system survey with partners from across our region to document the interest of local consumers in Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) and other local food distribution models.

Here is the link to the on-line survey, which should take you no more than 10 minutes to complete. Survey results will be made available to farmers, Cooperative Extension Service agents and other parties interested in supporting local farmers and connecting them with interested consumers of local food. Our local farmers need to hear from local consumers.

Before they'll grow it - they need to know you'll buy it!

We worked with a number of partners to develop the survey – including the Moore County Cooperative Extension Service, FirstHealth Community Health Services, and the Sandhills Farm to Table Cooperative. Thanks to our partners for their expertise and contributions to the survey.

Sustainable Sandhills' staff and volunteers will map the survey results so that farmers will know what your eating and purchasing preferences are, and will be able to see how many interested consumers are in close proximity to their farms.

Please forward the survey link to your contacts in the following counties – Bladen, Cumberland, Harnett, Hoke, Lee, Montgomery, Moore, Robeson, Sampson, Scotland, Richmond.

You can also print a copy of the survey and fill out by hand. This might be an easy way to distribute the survey at your church or workplace. Mail completed surveys to us at Sustainable Sandhills, PO Box 144, Fayetteville NC 28302, or check this link for a list of designated survey drop-off locations in your community.
